The newly constructed AIIMS Digha and R Block-Digha roads

Both the projects have been executed by Bihar State Road Development Corporation Limited (BSRDC). BSRDC's managing director Sanjay Kumar Agarwal said the trial run of vehicles on AIIMS-Digha road has been successful and vehicular movement will start after completion of some remaining works near Khasra road overbridge. "It is the longest span over the railway track and casting work has been completed on both lanes. In fact, vehicular movement has also started on one lane under the trial run," Agarwal told TOI on Monday.

The project will include AIIMS Digha and R Block-Digha roads.

Patna: A 'prabhat pheri' will mark the beginning of a seven-day religious event, which will be organized from Tuesday, to mark the 346th birth anniversary of the founder Sikhism, Guru Nanak Dev.

The procession will set off from the 'Tashtak Sri Harmandir Ji Patna Sahib Gurdwara' in Patna at 6:30 am and pass through different localities before reaching the Gurdwara Bal Leek Main Sang at where 'kirtan' and 'katha pathi' will be organized.

The 'prabhat pheri' will culminate at Patna Sahib Gurdwara at 7:30 am. 'Tashtak Sri Harmandir Ji Prarthana' Committee superintendent Dajpet Singh told this newspaper on Monday. "We have restricted the number of devotees taking part in the five-day procession till November 28 in view of the Covid-19 pandemic. All the participants, as well as the 'prabhat pheri' members have been to wear masks, gloves and carry sanitizers."

He added, "Carrying the 'Nishan Sahib' (Sikh flag), the devotees will reach the Gurdwara Handi Sahib on the second day and Gurdwara Gai Ghat on Day 3."

The 48-hour 'alkhand pathi', non-stop recital of the Gurus Granth Sahib, will begin from November 28 and end on November 30 at the Patna Sahib Gurdwara. 'Kirtan' will also be performed on the occasion.

According to prarthana committee's secretary Mahinder Singh Chhabra, 'langar' will be organized on the gurdwara premises after the procession.

"We will take all safety measures and carry out a 'nagar kirtan' on November 28 if the district administration allows us to," Chhabra said.
